News & Updates

We hope you had an enjoyable and restful mid-year break and wish you all the best for a productive term 3.

You will notice that the open day schedule has been included in the last few newsletters to ensure you are aware of your preferred institution's up and coming open days. These events are a fantastic opportunity for students to get a feel for the culture, resources, staff, societies and courses offered.

To help make your tours less overwhelming, it is recommended that you have an plan of what you intend to see, do and explore on campus. Here are a few tips to get started!

1. Firstly, if you haven't already, research your areas of interest and the courses available (including entry requirements) to create your open day shortlist. (Visit: <https://www.vtac.edu.au>)
2. Register for each day you wish to attend. This will ensure you are aware of when all information sessions are being held and that you will be updated of any changes beforehand.
3. Get an 'Open Day Guide' from the institution's website before you attend their open day.
4. Plan your day. Allow sufficient time for your visit, two hours or so is advisable to explore the campus and talk with current students.
5. Tour nearby accommodation if you are planning to move closer to campus.
6. Finally when you're finished, review your options!

Remember:

If you're short on time during your open day visits, prioritise the parts of campus and the buildings or facilities you'll be most likely to use.

Also consider a rural campus, ATAR's are often lower at rural campuses and they can offer other advantages (eg smaller classes). Goodluck and have fun!

ACU Update

Community Achiever's Program (CAP)

ACU has just announced their minimum ATAR requirements for 2020 entry for their Community Achiever Program (CAP).

The Community Achiever Program (CAP), formerly named the Early Achievers' Program (EAP), offers future students who are active in their community, early entry to their undergraduate course of choice. It also provides opportunities to enhance leadership and volunteering skills.

If you're successful in applying for the CAP, you could receive an offer to study at ACU as early as August!

Career Focus – Graphic Designer

Graphic Designers produce visual communications, including art and layouts of text for reproduction in print and electronic media such as magazines, newspapers, books and websites, as well as image designs for corporate identity programmes, exhibitions and advertising. Graphic designers may specialise in a number of fields including; brand and identity strategy, digital and web-based design, television, film and computer graphics, set and exhibition design, corporate design, book and magazine design, and advertising and illustration. They may progress to positions such as design directors, art directors or creative directors. The Australian Government projects that graphic designers, web designers and illustrators will see a 12.6% increase in employment opportunities within the next 5 years*.

Graphic designers:

- Talk to clients to get a clear understanding of their visual communication requirements and develop 'roughs' (sketches).
- Prepare comprehensive layouts of the design using techniques such as photography, illustration and computer-generated imagery.
- Identify communication problems and develop visual solutions.
- Present and propose designs to clients for approval.
- Prepare designs for print or digital publication and signage.
- Design and set up exhibitions for advertising or educational purposes.
- Supervise all design production stages, including arranging and supervising printing.

Graphic designers may work as members of a design team in design studios or advertising agencies, or alone undertaking consultancy or freelance work.

To be an advertising graphic designer, it is helpful to:

- Be creative and imaginative.
- Understand colour and form.
- Be able to work under pressure and meet deadlines.
- Have good communication skills.
- Have good marketing abilities.
- Be able to work as part of a team.

To become a graphic designer, you usually have to complete a VET qualification. Applicants may be required to attend an interview and/or submit a folio of work. As subjects and prerequisites can vary between institutions, you should contact your chosen institution for more information.

Entry into this occupation may be improved if you have a degree in graphic design or a related area such as digital media or visual communication design. To get into these courses, you usually need to gain your Senior Secondary Certificate of Education. Prerequisite subjects, or assumed knowledge, in one or more of English and a visual arts or design subject are normally required. Applicants may also be required to attend an interview and/or submit a folio of work.
